

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES

Spanish & Portuguese

DSP Alumni Series: The Job Market

Sponsored by the Hispanic & Lusophone Linguistics Working Group

LOCATION:

Zoom Meeting ID:
824 9338 3359
Passcode: hllwg

November 10, 2020

TIME:

9-10 am (MST)

Join us for a panel discussion with our 2019 alumni about their experiences on the job market! Bring specific questions or concerns you may have about navigating this step in an academic career.

Andrea Herrera-Dulcet

Central Washington University

Andrea Herrera-Dulcet is an Assistant professor of Spanish and the head of the Spanish Heritage Language Program at CWU. Her current research explores critical pedagogies applied to language learning, as well as language ideologies in the Spanish heritage language classroom.

Carmen Fernández Flórez

Grand Valley State University

Carmen Fernández Flórez is an Assistant professor of Spanish at GVSU. Her major research interests are in the area of sociolinguistics, including language variation and change, Spanish in contact, language acquisition, Spanish as a heritage language, and foreign language pedagogy.

Imanol Suárez-Palma

University of Florida

Imanol Suárez-Palma is an Assistant professor of Spanish Linguistics at UF. His area of expertise is Spanish morphosyntax within a generative framework; specifically, he works on argument and event structure, dative arguments and Romance se. He is also interested in language acquisition (L1, L2, Ln), bilingualism and foreign language instruction.